

AMA/MDA Medical Students' Network

FREE
Membership

The AMA (WA) and MDA National have developed a joint network to provide advice, guidance and resources to medical students. During these crucial years of study, it is important that you have access to representative organisations with skilled staff to help you navigate through the issues that confront you during your medical degree. Membership of both the AMA and MDA National is FREE to medical students. Please take a moment to complete the application forms for both organisations.

Who We Are and What We Do

AMA (WA)

The Australian Medical Association represents medical practitioners over all disciplines and specialities in both private and salaried sectors. The AMA provides a strong and united voice for the political, legal and industrial interests of medical practitioners and students collectively and individually. The AMA does this locally and nationally by lobbying government and health agencies, challenging government policy where necessary, successfully advocating for improved working conditions and remuneration levels, protecting the professional, academic and economic independence of our members and promoting ethical behaviour by the medical profession.

As an AMA member you have direct and free access to the AMA (WA)'s professional staff for:

- Strong, independent and effective representation
- Advice and assistance on workplace and medico-legal issues
- Alerts on proposed and new legislation and regulations
- Information and resources via our exclusive member only access to the AMA (WA) website
- Professional development and training opportunities

Additional member benefits include:

- Elected representatives of your Medical Student Society attend AMA (WA) Council meetings, raising issues of concern to medical students
- Access to a wide range of exclusive commercial services and discounts
- Business advice, locum services, recruitment and training
- Insurance and superannuation products tailored to the medical profession
- Discounted subscription rates to Medical Journal of Australia and Australian Medicine

Joining the AMA (WA), as a student member, is easy and it's FREE!

Simply complete the enclosed membership application form, apply online at www.amawa.com.au, contact our Membership Officer on 9273 3055 or email us at membership@amawa.com.au
